Fine Art Abstract Nature Photography, 105 x 70 cm, 2010

« Nature photography is always for me a moment of contemplation and wonder that I try to reproduce sometimes in a completely different way through abstract photography. In my artistic research, I often use water as a creative medium, as it offers infinite possibilities to create something different from what one can usually see in reality. Each shot I take of nature is a moment of wonder, an encounter between Man and his Creator. »

Alexandre Plattet

During his artistic career of more than twenty years, the Swiss photographer Alexandre Plattet (* 1972) has participated in solo and collective exhibitions in various places around the world, such as Montreux, New-York and Paris. Many of his photographs have also been published in various international art books. Alexandre Plattet's images are on the borderline between painting and photography in terms of content and technique.

Nature Photography

In seiner mehr als zwanzigjährigen künstlerischen Laufbahn hat der Schweizer Fotograf Alexandre Plattet (1972) an Einzel- und Kollektivausstellungen in zahlreichen Orten der Welt teilgenommen, unter anderem in Montreux, New York und Paris. Viele seiner Fotografien wurden auch in verschiedenen internationalen Kunstbüchern veröffentlicht. Die Bilder von Alexandre Plattet bewegen sich inhaltlich und technisch an der Grenze zwischen Malerei und Fotografie.*

"Die Naturfotografie ist für mich immer ein Moment der Kontemplation und des Staunens, den ich versuche, durch abstrakte Fotografie manchmal auf eine ganz andere Weise wiederzugeben. Bei meinen künstlerischen Recherchen verwende ich oft Wasser als kreatives Medium, da es unendliche Möglichkeiten bietet, etwas zu schaffen, das sich von dem unterscheidet, was man normalerweise in der Realität sieht. Jedes Foto, das ich von der Natur mache, ist ein Moment des Staunens, eine Begegnung zwischen dem Menschen und seinem Schöpfer." (Alexandre Plattet)
